FOR MEREDITH RESOLUTION

Believed that it will be Adopted When
The Body Returns Here on June
25th—Legislature May Elect the Judges at That Session.

There were many regretful farewells spoken among the convention members yesterday afternoon and last night. Almost without exception, they hesitated to part with one another, although they were glad their work was over. Most of the out of town members have left the city, though a few of them remained until today. Judge Berryman Green and several others accompanied Col. Joe. Buton and Mr. Geo. Lindsay to Virginia Beach, to spend to-day at the Southern Club there, while Judge James W. Marshall has gone to Washington to deliver an address before the Confederate Memorial Association to-morrow. President Goode has gone to Washington to look after his long neglected law practice, while Senator Glass left last night for Lynchburg. He will attend the Campbell Court tomorrow and meet Senator Clayton in joint debate.

Senator Daniel has gone to Washington to resume his senatorial duties, and a large portion of the southwest members left for their homes last night.

Chairman Lindsay, of the Enrolling Committee, and several of his colleagues, will remain here for a few days to see that the work of engraving the new Constitution is completed. The instrument is already being worked upon by Prof. Wagener.

There is a movement on foot among members of the Legislature to elect the new circuit judges at the short session of the body in July.

It is being urged that a great deal of time would be saved should this course be pursued, and that it would put out of the way a series of hot debates when the body returns here in the fall for its long session. All the present circuit judges are understood to be candidates for election to the new places, and there are many others in the field.

There are now nineteen circuit judges in the State. The new Constitution provides for twenty-four. Hon. Robert Turnbull, of Brunswick; George K. Anderson, of Alleghany; G. Taylor Garnett, of Matthews; Caggett B. Jones, of King and Queen; W. N. Portlock, of Norfolk county, and other members of the convention, are said to aspire to places on the new bench.

A prominent State Senator said yesterday that the Legislature would probably create a commission to codify the laws in conformity with the new Constitution, and provide an election law at the short session, and that beyond these things and the taking of the oath, but little of interest would be done.

It seems likely from what can be learned that the resolution offered by Hon. Charles Y. Meredith in the convention yesterday will be adopted, providing that the body shall not finally adjourn after the short session, but that the adjournment shall be subject to the call of the president. This is suggested

An elegant tea in honor of a young bride recently came to this city was that Wednesday of Mrs. Stephen Putney in honor of Miss Langhorne Putney. Thillow's orchestra furnished the music for this brilliant entertainment, while the floral decoration were in daisies and smilax in halls and parlors.

The dining-room was presided over by Mrs. Ashby Wedder. The long table was covered with white silk, over which white tulle was laid in foamy billows, edged with ropes of smilax and white roses. The center was a plaque of brides' roses surrounded by a basket of seeded gillyflowers and brides' roses with stems that reached the chandelier, which was festooned with ropes of smilax. An artistic dash of color was given by a silver platter of unopened strawberries, which was placed to one end of the table. At the other was a cut glass candelabrum holding white candles, which was surrounded by a mound of California fruit of gorgeous coloring. The entire room was lighted with light wreathed with daisies and smilax. A pretty feature of this brilliant entertainment was that the guests were waited on by dainty maidens who as yet have not made their formal bow before the social footlights, they being Miss Louise Purcell, Miss Avis Grant, Miss Virginia C. Wetherill, Miss E. T. Gravett, Miss Elise Parkinson and Miss Kniz Smith, of Lynchburg.

Mrs. Junius Mosby served the punch, while Mrs. C. F. Stokes presided over the appetizer table.

The pleasantest of the final meetings was that of the Post-Tea Club, which was entertained Wednesday by Mrs. Austin Brockbrough. Rooms and bells were used as scores, while the
